| Homebound status: Due to diagnosis of Type 2 Diabetes Mellitus With Other Skin Ulcer, the patient is experiencing decreased endurance and mobility, increasing the likelihood of falls. To safely leave their home, the patient needs assistance from another person and an assistive mobility device.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |                                                              |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |  |
| Clinical Condition Requiring Homecare: The patient is a 79-year-old female with a significant past medical history of type 2 diabetes mellitus (diet-controlled), hypertension, pulmonary embolism, left lower leg cellulitis, and overactive bladder. She reports experiencing left wrist pain radiating to the shoulder, for which she wears a brace, as well as migraine headaches (managed with medication), dizziness, lightheadedness, fatigue, and a current pain level of 6/10. On <mh class="chrome-extension-FindManyStrings chrome-extension-FindManyStrings-style-8 CE-FMS-assessment">assessment</mh>, the patient was noted to have right lateral lower leg cellulitis with wound care orders to cleanse the area with normal saline, apply Santyl, and cover with a foam dressing. However, the patient was unable to obtain the Santyl from the pharmacy due to a missing prescription. A message was left with the Kaiser representative to contact the patient's PCP for the required order. The patient utilizes a PureWick external catheter at night to manage urinary incontinence. She ambulates slowly inside the home by holding onto furniture and uses a rollator for outdoor mobility. She resides with one of her daughters, and her son lives nearby; both are involved in her care. During the visit, the patient was alone. Her room was noted to be overcrowded and cluttered, forcing her to sleep on a small sofa due to the lack of space on her bed. She was counseled on the importance of a safer living environment and advised to seek assistance from her children to declutter the room. Wound care education, infection control, and prevention instructions were provided. A home exercise program (HEP) including long arc quads, marching, side kicks, mini squats, and heel raises (10 reps, 2 sets each) was initiated to address her general weakness and unsteady gait. Date of Order11/18/2025OrdersPhysician Face-to-Face Date: 07/15/2025Clinical Condition Requiring Home Care per Certifying Physician: sn-wound management pt-eval &amp; treat ot-eval &amp; treat due to Type 2 Diabetes Mellitus With Other Skin UlcerHomebound Status per Certifying Physician: patient requires another person or medical equipment such as crutches, a walker, or a wheelchair to leave home 4 - Recertification Notes: The patient is being recertified due to an unhealed right leg wound.PhysicianArshad, Sabaina |  |                                                              |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |  |
