| Homebound status: After undergoing Right Total Knee Replacement, the patient is experiencing decreased endurance and mobility, increasing the likelihood of falls. To safely leave their home, the patient needs assistance from another person and an assistive mobility device.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                               |                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                       |                 |
| Clinical Condition Requiring Homecare: The patient is a 57-year-old female with a past medical history significant for multiple sclerosis, obesity, restless leg syndrome, bilateral knee osteoarthritis, and hypertension, who was admitted to home health services following a right total knee replacement. She resides in a split-level home with a roommate and pets, currently staying in the family room to facilitate mobility and safety. The patient utilizes a recliner with a lift mechanism for ease of transfers. She has daytime assistance from a friend, Lois, and evening support from her roommate. The patient is alert and oriented to person, place, time, and situation. She reports no bowel movement since surgery and was educated on the use of stool softeners as needed, along with dietary recommendations to promote bowel regularity.&nbsp; On examination, the patient demonstrates limitations in range of motion, strength, functional mobility, standing balance, and endurance. Right knee range of motion is measured at 3 to 55 degrees in flexion and extension with overpressure. The discharge summary indicates that the patient is to perform wound care independently. The Aquacel dressing is to remain in place for a minimum of three days postoperatively, after which it may be removed and replaced with a light gauze dressing secured with an ACE wrap until surgical follow-up. The Timed Up and Go (TUG) test was completed in 60 seconds, signifying a high risk for falls.&nbsp; Currently, the patient is able to stand and transfer independently with the use of a rolling walker and can ambulate short indoor distances independently, albeit with increased time and effort. Outdoor ambulation, stair negotiation, and car transfers were not assessed during this visit. The home exercise program (HEP) was reviewed, including supine lower extremity therapeutic exercises, sit-to-stand repetitions, and hourly ambulation for mobility progression. Education was provided regarding the proper application of compression stockings, along with the use of ice and limb elevation to reduce edema and lower the risk of deep vein thrombosis (DVT). The patient will continue to benefit from skilled physical therapy services to address strength, mobility, and balance deficits and to facilitate a safe and independent return to her prior level of function. Date of Order10/20/2025OrdersPhysician Face-to-Face Date: 10/02/2025Clinical Condition Requiring Home Care per Certifying Physician: PT eval and treat, OT eval and treat due to Right Total Knee ReplacementHomebound Status per Certifying Physician: patient requires another person or medical equipment such as crutches, a walker, or a wheelchair to leave home 1 - SOC - PT Notes: socPhysicianAntoniades, John |                                               |                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                       |                 |
