| Homebound status: After undergoing Left Anterior Approach Total Hip Replacement, the patient is experiencing decreased endurance and mobility, increasing the likelihood of falls. To safely leave their home, the patient needs assistance from another person and an assistive mobility device.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |                       |                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |  |
| Clinical Condition The patient is a 68-year-old female admitted to home health nursing and therapy services status post left anterior approach Requiring Homecare:total hip replacement, currently postoperative day 5. Her past medical history is significant for hypertrophic nonobstructive cardiomyopathy status post automatic implantable cardioverter-defibrillator (AICD) placement, hypothyroidism, prediabetes, gastroesophageal reflux disease/laryngopharyngeal reflux (GERD/LPR), and lumbar spondylosis. The patient is alert and oriented and resides at home with her husband, who is available for support as needed. During the skilled nursing assessment, the surgical site to the left hip was evaluated and found to be clean, with no signs or symptoms of infection. A small amount of localized swelling was noted at the surgical site, which is consistent with the recent postoperative state. The patient denied pain or discomfort at the time of assessment, and pain appears to be well managed with prescribed medications. No acute distress was noted. Skilled physical therapy evaluation revealed left lower extremity weakness and mild balance impairment following surgery. Bed mobility was completed with supervision and increased time. Sit-to-stand transfers were performed with standby assistance using bilateral upper extremity support. The patient ambulated 60 feet with a rolling walker and standby assistance, demonstrating a minimal antalgic gait pattern with appropriate weight acceptance through the left lower extremity. Stair negotiation was completed for one flight using a handrail and step-to pattern with standby assistance, and the patient demonstrated good safety awareness throughout the task. Current functional limitations are related to postoperative weakness, impaired balance, and decreased mobility tolerance. Skilled home health physical therapy remains medically necessary to address strength deficits, improve dynamic balance, increase gait distance, advance stair independence, and facilitate progression to the least restrictive assistive device in order to safely return the patient to her prior level of function and reduce the risk of postoperative complications. The plan of care includes continued skilled nursing for ongoing surgical site assessment, monitoring for complications, and reinforcement of postoperative teaching, as well as continued physical therapy interventions focused on mobility, gait, balance, transfer training, and safety in the home environment.Date of Order03/02/2026OrdersPhysician Face-to-Face Date: 02/11/2026Clinical Condition Requiring Home Care per Certifying Physician: SN-pain control PT-eval & treat due to Left Anterior Approach Total Hip ReplacementHomebound Status per Certifying Physician: patient |  |                       |                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |  |
