In new or complex situations only, SOCIAL ISOLATION: 2. Sometimes, BEHAVIORAL ISSUES: 1. Memory deficit: failure to recognize familiar persons/places, inability to recall events of past 24 hours, significant memory loss so that supervision is required!2. Impaired decision-making: failure to perform usual ADLs or IADLs, inability to appropriately stop activities, jeopardizes safety through actions, HISTORY OF DEPRESSION: No                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                              |  |

| Clinical Condition Requiring Homecare: An 81-year-old patient was referred for home health services following a recent hospitalization for atrial fibrillation and dizziness. Past medical history is significant for chronic kidney disease, diabetes mellitus, atrial fibrillation, sleep apnea, dementia, and poorly controlled hypertension. The patient lives alone in a second-floor apartment within a row home requiring negotiation of five exterior steps and an additional 16 steps to access the apartment, with the bedroom and bathroom located on the second floor. Family support is available remotely through the patient's son and granddaughter, who monitor the patient via phone and assist as needed. At the time of evaluation, the patient ambulated 30 feet indoors using a straight cane with supervision and was able to negotiate 16 stairs with a rail and cane under supervision. Bed mobility was independent, while transfers required supervision. The patient is considered homebound due to the significant effort required to leave the home and a Tinetti score of 19/28, indicating an increased fall risk. During the OT evaluation, the patient's blood pressure was elevated at 200/90; the Kaiser urgent line was contacted, and the physician was notified, with follow-up scheduled with the PCP on Wednesday. The patient reported a history of poorly controlled hypertension since March, and medications for the day had already been removed from the medication box. Prior to hospitalization, the patient was independent with self-care tasks and ambulation without an assistive device. Skilled PT and OT services are recommended to address deficits in strength, balance, functional mobility, ADL performance, safety awareness, fall prevention, adaptive equipment training, therapeutic exercise, and home exercise program instruction to maximize independence and return the patient to prior level of function.</o:p></o:p> Date of Order<o:p></o:p> 05/07/2026Order<o:p></o:p> Physician Face-to-Face Date: 05/05/2026 Clinical Condition Requiring Home Care per Certifying Physician: PT-eval & treat OT-eval & treat DX: Unspecified atrial fibrillation Homebound Status per Certifying Physician: patient requires another person or medical equipment such as crutches, a walker, or a wheelchair to leave home<o:p></o:p>  1 - SOC - PT Notes:<o:p></o:p> OT Eval Notes:<o:p></o:p> Physician:Hamilton, Abigail |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                              |  |
